TERMS

PAYMENT

An initial deposit is required with all contracts. The deposit fee should not exceed 25% of the total estimated cost of the contract. Please note that the deposit is not refundable unless the videographer is unable to attend the event or otherwise noted in the contract.

The remaining cost of the contract should be paid as described in the payment section of the contract. The final product will not be given to the client until all funds are received.

DELIVERY OF FINISHED PRODUCT

Clients are welcome to pick up their video(s) in person or at a location no more than 15 miles from the city of Danbury. In addition, the video video(s) may be received through mailing at the expense of the client.

USAGE

Both the raw and final edited footage filmed by Fairfield County Films remains to be solely owned by the client. The client has the right to use the video for any purpose they so wish. However, the client is responsible for following copyright laws of the media contained in the product. Fairfield County Films will not be responsible for copyright infringement based on the use of the video by the client.

Note that Fairfield County Films reserves the right to use any clients' video for promotion purposes unless the client explicitly requests that Fairfield County Films does not do so.

POSTPONEMENT/CANCELLATION

In the event that the client cancels the event or does not wish to use Fairfield County Films' services, the initial deposit is not refundable. If the event is postponed, the client must conform to the available dates of Fairfield County Films in order to receive service from Fairfield County Films. In addition, Fairfield County Films reserves the right to assign a different videographer than originally planned. If Fairfield County Films cannot provide a substitute for a postponement, Fairfield County Films may withdraw from the event. In such a case, all payments but the deposit will be refunded.

LIABILITY

Fairfield County Films takes the utmost care with respect to the production, postproduction, and delivery of the video(s). However, if Fairfield County Films fails to comply with the terms of this contract due to any event or act outside the control of Fairfield County Films, Fairfield County Films' liability is limited entirely to the deposits paid. Fairfield County Films shall not be held liable for injury or damages exceeding the value of this agreement and limits any liability for loss, damage, or failure to deliver the videos, for any reason to the return of all payments previously made. The client agrees that no further legal action will be pursued.

ASSIGNS/SUBSTITUTIONS

In the event of illness or injury, Fairfield County Films reserves the right to assign a new videographer for the event, other than who had already been assigned. The client will be provided with proper identification information about the substitute. Note that the substitution of a videographer will not lower the quality of the video. All videographers contracted with Fairfield County Films are trained to uphold the highest standard of professionalism in our field.

PRODUCTION

In the unlikely case that a particular segment of the event is either not recorded, partially recorded, or recorded un-acceptably due to an equipment error, equipment failure, or videographer error, Fairfield County Films will not charge the client for that time and will agree to a re-shoot of that segment at no charge to the client. Please note that this case may not be applied where specific conditions of an event cause failure to produce the desired product. This includes, but is not limited to, low light conditions, causing a grainy video, or inclement weather conditions outdoors, where we may not operate our equipment.

COLLABORATION

Fairfield County Films aspires to meet all of the expectations of the client. In order to do so, Fairfield County Films will work closely with the client in order to receive a final product in which the client desires in conjunction with what the package of the video entails. Please note that any misunderstandings between Fairfield County Films and the client will not be charged to the client. However, if the client, for example, changes their mind on how they would like the final product to look, Fairfield County Films reserves the right to charge the client for any extra editing time and materials required to complete the video.

It is the sole responsibility for the client to provide all extra materials to Fairfield County Films in a timely fashion in order to receive the final product on time. This includes any pictures or music that the video should contain which without the participation of the client, the video would not otherwise have. Any video which requires materials from the client will not be given to the client until Fairfield County Films receives all materials as outlined in the contract.

DISC COMPATIBILITY

Fairfield County Films currently uses the most up to date professional disc authoring software from Sony. The disc authoring format used by Fairfield County Films is a standard across all modern set top boxes. In the unlikely event that a client is unable to play a DVD or Blu-Ray, Fairfield County Films is not responsible for a client's inability to play a video based on incompatibility issues. It is the sole responsibility for the client to obtain the most up to date hardware to view today's standards of media. In such a case, Fairfield County Films will offer a digital media copy for playback on a computer at no extra charge to the client. Please note that the digital media copy does not include the physical media in which the video is transferred. Rather, the digital media copy only includes the video itself. If the client wishes to receive a media device in which to store and transfer the video to and from, such as a hard drive, the client will be charged the appropriate fee for the media device.

ARCHIVAL

Fairfield County Films keeps two copies of all contracted events in case of natural disaster or the need of a copy at a later time by the client. The client may request new copies of the most current format or desired format which Fairfield County Films offers at the time of the request. Fairfield County Films reserves the right to charge the most current rate for each media copy.

NOTES

Acceptance of contract – The above prices, specifications and conditions are satisfactory and are hereby accepted. Fairfield County Films is authorized to do the work as specified. Payment will be made as outlined above.
